FOREWORD

The 1969-1970 edition of the Montana Directory of Manufacturers and Buyer's Guide contains information on location and products of the manufacturing plants in Montana.

Acknowledgements for cooperation and assistance in the gathering of this material are gratefully extended to the State Extension Service; Montana State Unemployment Compensation Commission; local Chambers of Commerce and many other local development and service organizations throughout the State.

EXPLANATION OF LISTINGS

Organization of the Directory

This directory is divided into four major sections: Part I, an alphabetical listing of all manufacturers in Montana; Part II, a geographical listing of manufacturing establishments alphabetically by city within counties; Part III, a Standard Industrial Code Classification listing manufacturers by city according to code progressions; and Part IV, an alphabetical index of products produced in Montana. Complete information about a manufacturing firm is provided only in one place in the directory—in the Standard Industrial Code Classification listing. All other lists of this publication refer the user to that section.

Part I. Alphabetical Listing of Montana Manufacturers

Company names are shown as they appeared on the information material received in this office. In addition to listing the name of manufacturing establishments and the S. I. C. code number or numbers, the city of the plant's location is also presented.

Part II. Geographical Listing of Manufacturing Establishments

The geographical listing has been arranged by county, so that it can be correlated with Census of Manufacturers figures which are reported by county. Within each county section cities are listed alphabetically and, under each city, manufacturers are listed alphabetically. Also included in this section is a complete listing of cities in Montana with their zip codes and the counties in which they are located. This index of Montana cities represents the first few pages of Part II.

Part III. Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing

The major entry in the Standard Industrial Code Classification listing for each manufacturing plant contains the following information: name of company; an entry from our employment classification code; street address (actual location of the physical plant); mailing address (if different from street address); name of the principal officer or officers to contact at this establishment and description of products manufactured at the plant. The title as well as the name of the person to contact at each establishment is shown, where provided, to aid the buyer in selecting the companies he wishes to contact.

Code Numbers

The four-digit code numbers under which the Standard Industrial Code Classification listings are organized, are the Standard Industrial Classification (S.I.C.) codes established by the U. S. Bureau of the Budget and published in its Standard Industrial Classifications Manual of 1967. These codes were developed in order to promote uniformity and comparability in the presentation of statistical data collected by various agencies of the U. S. Government, state agencies, trade associations, and private research organizations. Accordingly, the codes used in this directory conform with the industrial classifications used in the U. S. Census of Manufacturers.

S. I. C. Codes

The major S. I. C. code number, under which full information on each manufacturing establishment can be found in the Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing, (Part III), has been assigned according to the practice of the U. S. Bureau of the Budget on the basis of the plant's principal product in terms of value of shipments. However, in order to provide a complete listing of sources of different products produced in Montana, it was necessary to assign additional code numbers to the minor products of manufacturing plants. This is contrary to the practice of the U. S. Bureau of the Budget. For example, the Bureau would simply assign the S.I.C. code 2751 to a printing establishment which primarily does job printing on a type-set printing press, but which also publishes a local newspaper, does lithograph printing, and prints business forms and ruled note book paper. In this directory the printing establishment would not only be classified 2751, but also additional codes corresponding to each separate operation; 2711, newspaper publishing; 2752, lithograph printing; 2761, business forms; and 2782, ruled note book paper.

Employment Classification Code

An attempt has been made in this issue to clarify the separate industries with respect to the average employment figures of each. This was done with the purpose of affording the user a more realistic and useful understanding of the operations engaged in by the listed companies. The capital letter immediately following the name of the company will categorize that company according to the following employment code:

| | |
|---|---|
| A 0-3 employees | E 51-100 employees |
| B 4-10 | F 101-250 |
| C 11-20 | G 251-500 |
| D 21-50 | H 500 and over |

N/A Information Is Not Available

Part IV. Alphabetical Index of Products

This alphabetical list of manufactured products is designed for use as an index to only those products actually manufactured in Montana. Again, the only products listed are those which were supplied by our informational sources.

HOW TO USE THE DIRECTORY

To find information on a particular manufacturing company, turn to Part I, the Alphabetical Listing of Manufacturers. Opposite the company name will be a four-digit code number referring to a section in the Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing. Turn to that section of the Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing, Part III. Full information about the plant will be found under that code number. If the company has more than one establishment in Montana, each establishment will be listed in the alphabetical listing under the company name with its own code number. To find information about the company's entire operation in Montana, turn to each section of the Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing.

To find information on manufacturing plants in a particular city, turn to Part II, the Geographical Listing of Manufacturing Establishments, listed alphabetically by city within counties. Consult the Index of Cities in Montana, which consists of the first few pages in Part II. Opposite the city name will appear the county in which it is located. Then turn to the county section indicated to find the manufacturers of that city. Opposite each plant listed is shown the S. I. C. code or codes, which refers again to the Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing, Part III.

To find information about manufacturing plants producing a particular product, turn to Part IV, the Index of Products. Opposite the product description will be a code number or numbers referring to a section of the Standard Industrial Code Classification Listing, Part III. In that section will be found a list of all manufacturing plants in Montana producing that particular product, and which will be listed alphabetically by city. There has been no distinction made whether this product can be considered the firm's major production effort.
